The following peer-reviewed research articles, and news and editorial coverage, were published in California Agriculture, Volume 66, Numbers 1 to 4 (January–March, April–June, July–September, October–December), 2012. E = Article initially published online. Back issues are $5 per copy, while supplies last. To subscribe to the journal, order back issues, search the archives or download PDFs of all research articles in full, go to: http://californiaagriculture.ucanr.edu.

Research and review articles

Economics and public policy

Food and nutrition

Human and community development
Billikopf G, González G. Turnover rates are decreasing in California dairies. 66(4):137–43.

Land, air and water sciences

Plant sciences

Pest management
Groag KA, Goodhue RE. Citrus growers vary in their adoption of biological control. 66(1):29–36.

Natural resources
Grismer M, Asato C. Converting oak woodland or savanna to vineyards may stress groundwater supply in summer. 66(4):144–52.

Research news

Science briefs

Outlook

Editorials/editorial overviews

Letters

Index 2011

Corrections
Editors. UC land grants: A photo history. 66(3):81.

Errata
Allen-Diaz B. 150 years after Morrill Act, land-grant universities are key to healthy California. 66(1):2.

Other news

Special issue/section key
MA = Morrill Act

http://californiaagriculture.ucanr.org • JANUARY-MARCH 2013 63